DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 7/11/05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive for the reasons cited in election/restriction requirement.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kitahara (US 6,417,600). Kitahara shows (fig. 8B) a laminate-type piezoelectric device comprising: a ceramic layer (19) as printed; and an internal electrode layer (43) as printed which is laminated on the ceramic layer (19) as printed having a lower surface flat along a surface of the ceramic layer (19) as printed, and having an edge sidewall in an tip portion having an inclined surface making an acute angle with respect to the surface of the underlying ceramic as printed, wherein the ceramic layers (19) as printed and the internal electrode layers (43) as printed are alternately laminated on each other.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 3 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 2834

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art fails to show or fairly suggest employing a surface roughness for the surfaces of the piezoelectric ceramic layers in the range claimed, which range aids in the construction of the device in view of the beveled electrodes

Claims 2, 4 and 5 are allowed.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: the prior art does not fairly suggest or show a laminated piezoelectric device with alternate layers of electrodes and piezoelectric ceramics in which the electrodes have one embedded edge which is beveled with an angle between 2 and 30 degrees. Likewise not shown is an electrode arrangement in such a device where the electrode has electrode thin films laminated in a multistage manner so as to be gradually thinner toward an edge thereof.

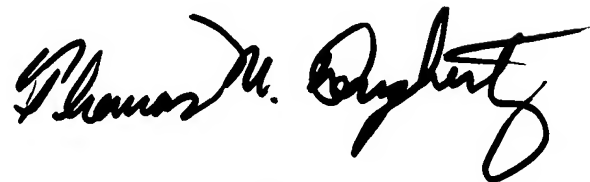

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The remaining prior art cited shows at least some feature or features of the claimed invention.
